Heavy Railroad Business.—Railroad officials state that traffic, both freight and passenger, is remarkably brisk for this season of the year, the extra business being attributed largely to the fact that the traffic of the San Pedro road has to be handled in the Ogden yards. The officials, however, state that business has been better during the entire winter months than for a long time in the past. The win-

DID CONTOS NO SUBWAY

DEPOTDID NICK VACOS KILL HIM IN SELF-DEFENSE.Attorney for Defendant Makes Sensational Declaration in the Murder Trial—Was Vacos Insane?

Upon the resumption of the Vacos murder case this morning the state rested and Attorney S. R. King, for Vacos, outlined the defense.

Judging from Mr. King's outline, it seems likely that the defense will endeavor to prove either insanity or self-defense, as an attempt was made at the morning session to show that Vacos was unaccountable for his actions on the day of the tragedy, and that Contos had previously displayed a weapon with which he had said he feared being obliged to use on Vacos.

Briefly summarized, Mr. King's statement was as follows:

The defendant, Nick Vacos, is thirty-three years of age, is a married man, having a wife and two children, and has been in America ten years. Vacos is a native of Greece. Since being in this country he has lived in Cincinnati, Chicago, Nashville, Minneapolis, Salt Lake and Ogden. For two and one-half years he has been in the retail fruit business. In Salt Lake Vacos borrowed sufficient money from Tom Politz with which to open a fruit and confectionery stand on Twenty-fifth street, this city. The defense avers that, shortly after Vacos began operations here, he was approached by John Contos, who proposed advancing sufficient money to pay off the indebtedness to Politz. The money, $171.50, was accepted without the formality of signing any note. A short time thereafter Contos induced Vacos to sign a demand note for the money. Shortly following this transaction Contos had a writ of attachment served on Vacos, maintaining that the defendant was secretly disposing of the property.

Vacos consulted George McCormick, an Ogden lawyer, and found that the writ had been fraudulently secured. The defendant, on divers occasions, pleaded with Contos for leniency, begging fifteen days' time in which to pay the debt. On April 3, 1909, the two met at a candy store, at which place it is claimed that Contos made a movement as if to draw a gun. The tragedy followed.

J. R. Lemme was the first witness called by the defense. He testified that Vacos was highly nervous—practically crazy—on the day of the shooting; that the defendant had been in his (Lemme's) store on the morning of April 3 to purchase a vest, but, not appearing to be suited with the article proffered, was seized with a violent frenzy and had thrown the vest into the street.

Jim Kolonis stated that he was present at the time when Vacos pleaded with Contos for time to pay the debt, which led to the trouble, that the defendant cried piteously and seemed fairly beside himself.

Constable Rogers, who served the writ of attachment, testified that Vacos was of a highly nervous disposition.

As the clock struck 12 a recess was taken until 2 o'clock.

Afternoon Session.

A half-filled court room was the scene this afternoon of an attempt on the part of John Pitches to translate from Greek into English Christ's sermon on the Mount. Pitches was engaged at Vacos' preliminary hearing to translate such of the testimony as a number of Greek witnesses were unable to give in English. Attorneys Halverson and Harris, for the state, are endeavoring to prove that the man is incompetent to properly perform the work entrusted to him. At present time, Pitches was being closely questioned.

It is possible that the case will reach the jury some time tomorrow.

Ely, Nev., Jan. 27.—Contract signed between myself, Berger and Jeffries in Ogden, January 24, by which I am to post the entire purse with Timothy D. Sullivan of New York, and in case the authorities interfere the $101,000 is to be divided equally between Jeffries and Johnson. There is no possibility of the contest being declared off through any interference of Gleason. I think that the A. P. story must have emanated from the San Francisco "Society of the Knockers of Sport." Copy of my contract with Jeffries and Berger was given to the Associated Press here tonight. Believe me, Jeffries and I have arranged for a big bear hunt this spring in the mountains near Salt Lake.

THE HARRIMAN OFFICIALS HAVE CHANGED THEIR PLANS.Work on New Passenger Tracks and Freight Depot to Be Resumed
With Return of Sunshine.

Concrete work on both the new freight depot building and between the new tracks in the passenger depot has been suspended for a couple of weeks past because of the frost, and it has been rather uphill business to lay the gas mains between the tracks, but it is anticipated by the engineers on the work that much activity will prevail within a very short time.

Before long the ground will be in condition to work advantageously. As soon as the weather conditions will permit, the building operations will be pushed vigorously. It is the desire of the Harriman people to complete the freight depot and remodel the passenger depot yards at the earliest possible time.

The foundation of the freight depot is practically completed and concrete has been laid between six of the tracks fronting the Union depot. Concrete has to be laid between four other passenger tracks, and gas mains laid near each track before the work of erecting the sheds over the entire ten tracks can begin. The idea of building an underground entrance to the passenger tracks has been abandoned and, for the present, at least, the railroads will be content with the top-of-earth structure.

SPLITTING
COMET

Clouds last night hid from view the new comet.

According to Prof. J. E. Gould, head of the department of astronomy at the University of Washington, the "Comet A-1910," which is visible in the western sky just after sunset, shows signs of splitting in two. "I notice a peculiar feature of the comet's tail," said Professor Gould. "It is not as continuous as such tails usually are. This is to be attributed to certain electrical disturbances which have been noted in comets just before they split in two. As the comet approaches the sun its body is subjected to greater and greater strain, and if it breaks apart it should do so in a few days."

TESTING THE BUTCHERS'
LICENSECITY ATTORNEY CAUSES MEAT
DEALERS TO BE ARRESTED.Sergeant Wardlaw Busy With Warrants and Tomorrow the Butchers Will Be in Court.

Complaints were drawn today, charging certain meat dealers with a violation of the city ordinance which provides for a license for the butcher shops of the city. Some licenses have been paid, but a number of the meat dealers are alleged to be delinquent and their delinquency, says the attorney of the city, has reached the point of willfulness and violation of the city law.

Sergeant Wardlaw has notified the parties in question the second time to pay their license, but, he says, they have ignored the request. It is expected that warrants of arrest in most of the cases filed, will be served this afternoon and that the parties will be arraigned in court tomorrow morning.

The butcher shops involved are as follows: Ogden City Meat market, 2476 Wash. Ave.; Central Meat company, 2265 Wash. Ave.; Success Meat Market, 2311 Wash. Ave.; Henry Huseman Market, 2584 Wash. HEAVY LOSS
TO SHEEP
MEN

Patrick Healy has returned from Buffalo, Wyoming, where his sheep are being fed. He reports heavy losses, and states that some of the owners of large bands will see all their sheep die before the cold weather ends.

Men who had as high as 60,000 head at the beginning of the storms in December are left with a scattering thousand or more, and the sheepman in particular who had gone to Europe on a pleasure trip in the early part of the winter returned lately, on case summons, to find that his eight bands had been reduced to two and only half of the surviving animals could be saved.

The loss in the northern half of Wyoming is estimated as high as 1,500,000 sheep. The greatest sufferers are the owners who had their sheep along the line of railroad in northern Wyoming that were snow-blockaded for the past three weeks. Unable to get corn or feedstuff of any kind to the animals, the losses were in some cases total.

Half a dozen men have had their entire holdings wiped out.

Mr. Healy estimates his losses at 15 per cent. He was fortunate in having feed at available points for his sheep.

No young women is ever happier than when she knows a sutor is coming to apologize for engaging in a lovers' quarrel that she started.
